

Free Seminars for Parents

Corwin Kronenberg: Positive Approach to Discipline

For parents with children of all ages

6:30–8:00 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 12, Meadowview Community Education Center

What are the basic rules that parents need with their children and teens? What are appropriate consequences when the rules aren't followed? Is there a difference between discipline and punishment? Mr. Kronenberg is a parent, teacher, author, and a highly sought-after expert and speaker in the areas of self-concept and discipline. He has developed a behavior management system that works. He presents his topic with enthusiasm, drama, humor and credibility. You will laugh while learning practical techniques.

For both seminars, free childcare is available for children ages 2–10. Pre-register at www.farmingtonCE.com.

Jon Harper: Helping Children Deal with Anger

For parents with children of all ages

6:30–8:00 p.m. Tuesdays, Feb. 19 & 26, Meadowview Community Education Center

These two sessions will cover appropriate responses to your child's anger, alternative reactions that might be more effective, and ways to help your child express anger appropriately. Discover the basic definitions and components of anger and learn how to build a toolbox to diffuse it. There will be plenty of time for questions and answers in these informative meetings.

Parent Fair

Saturday, March 8, 2008

8:30 a.m.–12:00 p.m.

Farmington Middle School East

4100 208th Street West

Farmington, MN 55024

Childcare for children ages 1–10 is available for $10/child. Pre-register at www.farmingtonCE.com.

• For more information, call Community Education at 651-460-3200 •

Free Seminars for Parents

Corwin Kronenberg: Positive Approach to Discipline

For parents with children of all ages

6:30–8:00 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 12, Meadowview Community Education Center

What are the basic rules that parents need with their children and teens? What are appropriate consequences when the rules aren't followed? Is there a difference between discipline and punishment? Mr. Kronenberg is a parent, teacher, author, and a highly sought-after expert and speaker in the areas of self-concept and discipline. He has developed a behavior management system that works. He presents his topic with enthusiasm, drama, humor and credibility. You will laugh while learning practical techniques.

For both seminars, free childcare is available for children ages 2–10. Pre-register at www.farmingtonCE.com.

Jon Harper: Helping Children Deal with Anger

For parents with children of all ages

6:30–8:00 p.m. Tuesdays, Feb. 19 & 26, Meadowview Community Education Center

These two sessions will cover appropriate responses to your child's anger, alternative reactions that might be more effective, and ways to help your child express anger appropriately. Discover the basic definitions and components of anger and learn how to build a toolbox to diffuse it. There will be plenty of time for questions and answers in these informative meetings.

Parent Fair

Saturday, March 8, 2008

8:30 a.m.–12:00 p.m.

Farmington Middle School East

4100 208th Street West

Farmington, MN 55024

Childcare for children ages 1–10 is available for $10/child. Pre-register at www.farmingtonCE.com.

• For more information, call Community Education at 651-460-3200 •